

Poem Against Any More than a Glimpse of the Battered Athlete, or Time for Dr.Pepper, Duracell, Anthem Blue Cross Blue Shield, and the New Chevy Malibu

By Woods Nash, MPH, PhD

Coach scowls, calculates.

Cue the substitute. Cut straight to commercial break.

About the Author/s

Woods Nash, MPH, PhD is Assistant Professor of Bioethics and Medical Humanities at the University of Houston Tilman J. Fertitta Family College of Medicine. He works at the intersection of ethics, narrative medicine, creative writing, and the visual arts. Since 2016, he has served as co-chair for Off Script, Houston's twice-annual medical storytelling event. His poems and essays are in JAMA, Academic Medicine, and the Journal of Medical Humanities.